⑥ USSR: Brezhnev's Meetings in the Crimea

President Brezhnev apparently will meet with at least some East European leaders in the Crimea. A Soviet diplomat in Belgrade has reported that not all of the traditional bilateral meetings will occur this summer. The diplomat also stated Brezhnev's health has improved since early this month and that the next meeting of the party's Central Committee will be in September.

✓ Comment: The summits in the Crimea have been used to keep Brezhnev in the political spotlight while he is on vacation. Czechoslovak party chief Husak, who is now in the Crimea, probably will meet with the Soviet leader this week. Going forward with these sessions indicates Brezhnev is physically up to the task and remains a political force in the leadership.
